IDEAS FOR HOME BUILDERS

BY WM. A. RADFORD.

Mr. William A. Radford will answer questions and give advice FREE OF COST on all subjects pertaining to the subject of building, for the readers of this paper. On account of his wide experience as Editor, Author and Manufacturer, he is, without doubt, the highest authority on all these subjects. Address all inquiries to William A. Radford, No. 178 West Jackson boulevard, Chicago, Ill., and only enclose two-cent stamp for reply.

"A little house we've got, on a flower-bordered lot, in a hustling, breezy, busy little city; it's big enough for two, for our wants are very few, there's only just myself and little Kitty."

A simple little house like this is very much like going back to first principles, but it furnishes accommodation for two just as well as a more elaborate affair. We all have acquaintances, especially among our older friends, who commenced life as simply as this, and who are now enjoying the accumulations resulting from frugality and good management.

If a young couple form the habit of paying rent, they are very likely to pay rent as long as they live. We often hear the remark that it is cheaper to rent than to own our own property. There never was a more foolish or misleading statement. The man who lives in a rented house seldom gets ahead financially. This holds good whether he is working on a salary or is conducting a business on his own account. It would be difficult to say why, but it probably is because in the majority of cases a renter fails to give attention to the advancing value of real estate.

I knew a man, a clerk in a lubricating oil manufactory, who rented a new house on a pleasant street about twenty years ago. At first he paid $20 per month, but in seven or eight years' time the rent was raised to $25. He is still living in the same very attractive by making a nice lawn and planting a few trees and flowers. The lawn is the most essential and the most difficult undertaking on the average town lot. The ground is often not very good; it is mixed with cellar earth and rubbish that is not well calculated for a good seed bed for grass. It is easy to put the ground in proper shape, however, if the job is started from the bottom. The ground must be plowed deep, and thoroughly worked, to get the objectionable grass roots out of it. The condition of the soil will determine whether to seed the first year or the second year. If there is no humus in the soil, it will pay to cover it thick with coarse manure, and plow it under. This, again, leads to complications in the moisture problem; but if you have a hose attachment, you can easily keep the ground moist. The top two or three inches of earth must be repeatedly worked with a disk harrow or some implement, every other day for a week or two, to kill the weeds as they sprout; then, if the top is well mixed with a good commercial fertilizer, the grass seed may be sown, and you have a lawn that will last as long as you want it. A lawn that will be green when others are parched with sun, a lawn that will look velvety and add ten or twenty per cent. to the value of the property.

This is a secret that not many householders understand. It is not always the house itself that makes a home desirable. I have seen cheap little houses made so attractive that strangers passing would stop to admire.

A young man can build a house like this for $700 or $800, and the money that he would naturally pay out for rent will pay for it in a few years. He can grow fruit trees, and have fruit enough for home use, and some

POULTRY

CONSTRUCTION OF HEN HOUSE

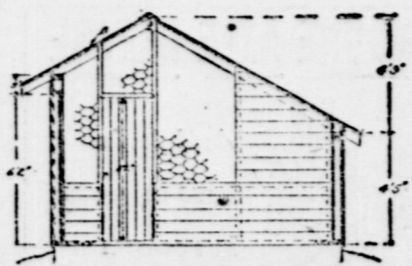

Few Practical Suggestions That Will Be of Much Assistance to the Poultry Keeper.

(By J. G. HALLIN and C. A. COCK, Wisconsin.)

For success in poultry keeping it is necessary to have a suitable house which will protect the fowls from inclement weather and from their natural enemies.

It must be remembered that from the standpoint of the hen, appearance makes very little difference, but the house must be so built and so arranged that it will be a comfortable place for the hens to live; otherwise they will not thrive and production will not be satisfactory. On many farms the hens are not provided with a house constructed especially for them, but are housed in an old building originally made for some other purpose. As a rule this sort of a house is not economical, for, unless it is constructed especially for hens, it will seldom be found possible to reconstruct it in such a way as to make economical production possible.

Poultry houses should be located where it is dry and well drained. If the ground is not naturally dry, it should be ditched and drained artificially, for poultry will not thrive in a house when the floor is constantly wet. A damp location means a damp poultry house all the way through, and the result is that the fowls are affected with many troublesome diseases.

Houses should be placed so that they will not be subject to violent winds, yet good air and drainage are essential. A house should never be placed in a low, damp spot where early fall frosts are likely to occur. These places are always cold and unhealthy for fowls.

One hundred hens will thrive in a pen 20x20 feet, that is four square feet of floor space per hen, but one hen will not thrive in a pen 2x2 feet. In a large pen each one has a chance to wander about over the entire floor space, thus getting more exercise.

Generally speaking, it is far cheaper to build a wide house than a narrow one. A house 10x19 is cheaper than a house 10x19 and contains as much floor space for the hens. A house 20 feet wide, however, will be found impracticable for some types of roofs and will not be found satisfactory where one wishes to keep a number of small breeding pens. There are several common types of roofs used on poultry houses.

Just which style of roof should be chosen is largely a matter of personal preference, but the type of roof will be found to influence the cost of construction to quite an extent.

Wherever there is only one poultry house a partition is always advisable as it permits one to keep the hens separated from the pullets early in the winter and makes it possible later to make up a breeding pen of the best fowls. In a small house, that is one not over 30 feet long, one should use boards for the partitions for about two feet from the floor. The rest may be made of wire or cloth except between the roofs of the different pens, where the boards should run to the roof.

Feed for Growing Ducklings. Growing ducklings thrive best on a feed composed of equal parts, by measure, of corn meal, ground peas, bran and middlings, all made into thick mash, either with scalding hot water or milk, the latter being the better. The mash is improved by adding short-cut green grass, clover or some other green stuff, and a few handfuls of coarse sand.

Bad Air and Incubation. The atmosphere of a cellar where vegetables are kept is not fit for an incubator. The air, according to Popper Mechanics, is charged with carbonic gas, which is fatal to young chicks.

My Doctor Said

"Try Cardui," writes Mrs. Z. V. Speil, of Hayne, N. C. "I was in a very low state of health, and was not able to be up and tend to my duties. I did try Cardui, and soon began to feel better. I got able to be up and help do my housework. I continued to take the medicine, and now I am able to do my housework and to care for my children, and I feel as though I could never praise Cardui enough for the benefits I have received."

TAKE The CARDUI Woman's Tonic

Cardui is successful, because it is made especially for women, and acts specifically on the womanly constitution. Cardui does one thing, and does it well. That explains the great success which it has had, during the past 50 years, in helping thousands of weak and ailing women back to health and happiness.

If you are a woman, feel tired, dull, and are nervous, cross and irritable, it's because you need a tonic. Why not try Cardui? Cardui builds, strengthens, restores, and acts in every way as a special, tonic remedy for women. Test it for yourself. Your druggist sells Cardui. Ask him.

Blood Pressure.

Much is heard nowadays about "blood pressure." Among valentinarians indeed it has become a sine qua non; he who cannot boast of a high blood pressure is of small consequence among them. There is, however, some significance in variations of blood pressure; an abnormally high blood pressure is not to be treated lightly—nor, for that matter, is one abnormally low. The term itself means simply the pressure of the flowing blood upon the walls of the arteries. When the heart contracts, it forces the blood into the arteries, and thus slightly distends their elastic walls. These in turn contract, and force the blood along into the minute arteries, and capillaries through which it has to pass in order to enter the veins.

Normally there is exact balance and adaptation; but if the heart is enlarged, and beats too forcibly, if the elasticity of the arterial walls is diminished, if the combined area of the small arteries and capillaries is reduced, or if the blood is less fluid than is normal, the pressure is raised.

The doctor determines the amount of pressure by means of an apparatus that measures the force required to stop the pulse beat at the wrist. This force is usually expressed in terms of the height of a column of mercury, the pressure of which equals the force needed to stop the pulse. Thus when the blood pressure is one hundred and fifty, the compressive force required to stop the pulse equals that exerted by the weight of a column of mercury one hundred and fifty millimeters high.

Blood pressure varies normally, according to age. In young children it is about one hundred; in adults under forty it is about one hundred and twenty-five; between fifty and sixty years it may be one hundred and forty or one hundred and fifty, and after sixty it may rise to one hundred and sixty or even more within the limits of health. The pressure varies also under the influence of various conditions; it is raised by overexertion.

When the blood pressure is raised, it is removed;

Only when the blood pressure is permanently raised has it any serious significance—and then it is not the blood pressure itself, but the cause behind it that threatens danger.

Record Crop of Tobacco Raised by Christian County Farmer.

Fred Harned, near this city, last year raised on two acres of land 4,000 pounds of tobacco, got a flat price of $10 per hundred for this tobacco, or $200.40 per acre. The tobacco which Mr. Harned raised on this two acres was the largest ever seen hereabouts, the leaves measuring as high as forty-four inches in length and thirty inches in width. This, too, with the plants topped at eighteen and twenty leaves. This is believed to be a record for tobacco yield and until somebody else comes forward with a better showing, Mr. Harned claims the title of "boss" tobacco raiser of the dark producing district.—Hopkinsville Kentuckian.

Sore Eyes

Any affection of the eyes, however slight, ought to have the most careful treatment, both because the eye is a very delicate organ, and because serious troubles often begin with the same symptoms that accompany minor ailments. That is particularly true in the case of conjunctivitis, or inflammation of the conjunctiva. When this is due to a cold, or to irritation by some foreign body, the inflammation will yield readily to ordinary cleansing and to soothing applications; but it may also be caused by the most violently destructive germs known to medical science, and then it may lead to loss of sight unless radical treatment is begun early.

Obviously, the patient should not waste time in guessing which type of inflammation he is suffering from, although until the doctor arrives it is always well to keep the eye as clean as possible with a mild boric acid solution and pledgets of absorbent cotton (each to be used once only). And whatever is the matter with the eye, wind, dust and strong light should be avoided.

When an epidemic of conjunctivitis attacks a school or a community, the greatest care should be whether contact or by the use of common towels or sponges. The bits of sterilized absorbent cotton used for cleaning the eyes should always be burned immediately.

Another disagreeable and painful affliction is the sty, a boil that forms on the edge of the eyelid. It chiefly attacks young people of both sexes between the ages of twelve and twenty, and signifies that the general condition is poor. For that reason the constitutional treatment is important: when the stomach and liver are doing their work properly, sties will not recur—unless, indeed, they are caused by eye-strain, in which case proper glasses will drive them away.

You can sometimes avert a sty if you attend to it promptly enough, but if you apply colloidion for the purpose, be careful that none of it gets into the eye itself. When there is much swelling and tenderness, it is useless to try to stop the pointing of the boil. When pus has formed, a little incision should be made, and relief will be immediate.

THE LINE OF THE SPINE

shown above is the curved line which truthfully presents to your eye the condition of your spine if you use a sewing machine.

The reason for this is the family sewing machine as ordinarily constructed, is altogether wrong. You cannot sit straight in your chair while operating your machine—try it, sit straight and square as you should, and see if you can sew on your machine; you can't. The needle is 4½ inches from the center where it ought to be. To follow call for no two have to twist your body to the left. This twist calls for a wrench and strain of all the delicate chords and ligaments affecting stomach, spleen, liver, kidneys, bowels and nerves, and resulting in SIDE NEEDLE SPINE.

If it were possible for a growing child to operate an ordinary sewing machine, it would be injured for life. The soft cartilage of its spine would twist and warp, its vital organs would be injured to such an extent as to produce nervous disorders.

In schools, as you know, desks and chairs are specially constructed to avoid spinal curvature.

In factories where sewing machines are used, the work is always directed central with the operator, otherwise they could not stand the strain of the twist of the body and continue to work.

THE STANDARD CENTRAL NEEDLE MACHINE is a new type of family sewing machine designed as a health saver and preventer of doctor's bills.

In this machine the needle is central with the worker—directly over the center of the treadle. To use it calls for no twist of the spine. It causes no strain on the internal organs and consequent tortures of the nerves.

With THE STANDARD CENTRAL NEEDLE machine a woman is safe in using it all day and every day, without it she is not.

Compare the two pictures—positions taken from life—and decide which you will have. THE SIDE NEEDLE SPINE or THE CENTRAL NEEDLE SPINE.

We have related a valuable book, "A LITTLE IN THE SIDE," which is yours FREE for the asking—and every intelligent woman will want it and will thank us for bringing it to her attention.

It goes into the subject of sewing machine construction thoroughly and explains how and why THE STANDARD CENTRAL NEEDLE SEWING MACHINE is vital to the health of woman and growing girls, and how easy it is to use. If you value your health and the health of your daughters—you will send for a copy at once. Obligation: It is FREE. A postal will bring it by return mail.

A Clean Man

Outside cleanliness is less than half the battle. A man may scrub himself a dozen times a day, and still be unclean. Good health means cleanliness not only outside, but inside. It means a clean stomach, clean bowels, clean blood, a clean liver, and new, clean, healthy tissues. The man who is clean in this way will look it and act it. He will work with energy and think clean, clear, healthy thoughts.

He will never be troubled with liver, lung, stomach or blood disorders. Dyspepsia and indigestion originate in unclean stomachs. Blood diseases are found where there is unclean blood. Consumption and bronchitis mean unclean lungs.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery

prevents these diseases. It makes a man's insides clean and healthy. It cleans the digestive organs, makes pure, clean blood, and clean, healthy flesh.

It restores tone to the nervous system, and cures nervous exhaustion and prostration. It contains no alcohol or habit-forming drugs. Constipation is the most unclean uncleanness. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure it. They never gripe. Easy to take as candy.

Buy Lot for Christian Church Site.

The building committee has closed a deal for a lot on which to build the new Christian church, securing the lot from Mr. John M. Wells, corner of Main-cross and College streets. This lot is one of the most desirable that could have been chosen, is ample in size, excellent in location, and in every way suited to the purpose. Mr. Wells will move the residence to an adjoining lot, and it is proposed to begin the construction of the church about the first of September. A modern fire-proof structure will be built, and much time will be given to securing the best arrangement, style of architecture, etc. For some time there has been discussion of building a church by the many members of this denomination here, and this move insures the building, as an active campaign will now be inaugurated for subscriptions, both here and abroad. This will give Greenville five churches and all of them creditable buildings.

Jail Delivery Frustrated.

But for the vigilance and quick action of Jailer George York there would have been an escape of prisoners from our antiquated residence for criminals Monday night. About 3.30 o'clock Mr. York heard a peculiar noise, and having in mind the safety of his jail boarders, he dressed quickly and made investigation. He was just in the nick of time for just when he reached the jail he saw the major portion of a man's body sticking out one of the windows of the lower compartment of the building. Investigation revealed that it was Eller Davis, who is under indictment for housebreaking, and he was attempting to reverse his operations, by breaking out of the house. Mr. York persuaded him to wiggle back, and remain. Davis had seen the bars of his cell, and by removing a stovepipe from the window gratings had only one or two to saw which he had done, and in a minute would have been free. It requires constant watch on the part of the jailer to prevent prisoners from escaping. Our new jail will eliminate all this.

TIRED RUN-DOWN PEOPLE

A North Carolina Man Suggests a Remedy

Greensboro, N. C.—"For a long time I was so run down and debilitated that I could hardly drag around. My appetite was poor and I could not sleep nights. I had tried different so-called tonics without benefit. I was advised to try your cod liver and iron tonic. Vinol, and I am so glad I did, for it gave me a hearty appetite. I soon commenced to sleep soundly, and I feel strong, well and more active than I have for years. Every run-down or debilitated person should just give Vinol a trial." K. Allbrook. What Vinol did for Mr. Allbrook it will do for every weak, run-down or debilitated person in this vicinity. To show our faith we will furnish the medicine free if it does not do as we claim. Come in and get a bottle on these terms.

GRADED SCHOOL

Closes the Year's Work, the Most Important in Its History.

The closing exercises of Greenville graded school began last Thursday afternoon. Thursday Friday and Saturday the pupils of the three grades of the music department, under direction of the teacher, Mrs. J. F. Rice, gave recitals that pleased the largest audiences that have ever attended these exercises. The prizes awarded were as follows:

Primary department, first, Evelyn Martin and Jenny Taylor; second prize, Letha Barbee. Intermediate department, first prize, Christine Oates; second prize, Chauncey Guy Morgan.

The baccalaureate Sunday morning by Rev. Dillon at the Methodist church was heard by a large audience, despite the inclemency of the weather.

Examination began Monday and closed Wednesday at noon. Quite a number were excused from final test, having made 90 per cent. or more on each subject since last examination.

This afternoon at the school building there will be a public exhibition of the work done by the pupils in the various grades during the past year. Everyone is urged to see this exhibition, as there is much merit in it.

This evening the Juniors will give a banquet to the seniors at the school building. This annual event is always one of rare enjoyment.

Friday evening, at the court house, the commencement exercises will be held, and the public is invited to attend. Following is the

Now we should have some regular warm weather.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. W. Roark were in Louisville the latter part of the week.

Mr. Chas. Blackwell was in Louisville on business last Thursday.

Farmers are scarce visitors here now.

The Methodist church was filled to capacity last Sunday morning, the occasion being the delivery of the baccalaureate sermon by the pastor, Rev. G. P. Dillon. His address was very effective, and aroused the attention and interest of all present. The musical program was one of excellence, aiding materially.

It almost impossible to get a garden spot plowed, so busy are the men with teams.

Attend the closing exercises of school, to be held at the court house tomorrow night.

The social gathering at Masonic Hall last Friday night was one of the enjoyable events of the season. Something like 150 members, their wives, daughters and friends were in attendance. The addresses by Mr. Robt. Hardison, Jr. and Judge R. O. Pace were well received, and the singing by the quartet was pleasing. The work of the ladies in the preparation and serving the refreshments was rewarded by the enthusiastic response and appreciation of all, and received the praise of everyone.

Mr. John A. Williams brought with him from Lexington some samples of burley tobacco that were recently sold at auction on the warehouse floor there, the prices being $30 $46 and $60 per hundred pounds. The tobacco is in the show window of Mr. M. B. McDonald's store, and has attracted much attention.

Mr. D. U. Poole Appointed Postmaster.

Mr. D. U. Poole was appointed postmaster by President Taft last Thursday, to take effect as Mr. J. S. Miller's term expires, which will be the 26th. inst. It is likely, however, that Mr. Poole will not take formal charge of the office until June 30, which will be the end of the fiscal year. The seekers for the office had settled down to two, Mr. Poole and Mr. W. D. Blackwell, the latter having only entered the field a week or two before the appointment was made. Mr. Poole had been pressing his claims for some time, and had made a quiet, persistent fight that proved successful. He will make an accommodating, efficient postmaster, and is being congratulated by his many friends.

Kill the Fly.

Flies breed in manure and other filth.

Flies walk and feed on excreta and sputa from people ill with typhoid fever, tuberculosis, diarrhoeal affections and many other diseases.

One fly can carry and may deposit on our food 6,000,000 bacteria.

One fly in one summer may produce normally 195,312,500,000,000 descendants.

A fly is an enemy to health—the health of our children, the health of our community!

A fly cannot develop from the egg in less than eight days; therefore, if we clean up everything thoroughly every week, and keep all manure screened there need be no flies.

Will you help in the campaign against this pest?

PLANNING FOR THE HOT BED

It Will Reduce Grocery Bill Considerably This Spring—Kansas Way Is One Good Suggestion.

Better think about making that hot bed for early radishes and lettuce. It doesn't cost much, and it will lower the grocery bill. Here is the way recommended by the horticultural department of the Kansas State Agricultural college:

Dig a hole two feet deep, a little larger than the size of the hot bed frame. If the hot bed is to be permanent, the walls of this pit should be lined with brick, stone or cement. When possible, have a shed or board fence on the north side of the bed. It will take less manure to heat the soil. Put two feet of well-mixed fresh horse manure in the hole, wet thoroughly, and tamp. If the manure is not well tamped, the soil will settle unevenly when the manure decays.

Two-inch material makes a better and stronger frame and will last longer. The front of the frame should be six inches high, the back eighteen inches. Put five inches of dirt on the manure, preferably the richest soil you can get. Fill in around the frame with manure and earth and put the cover on the frame.

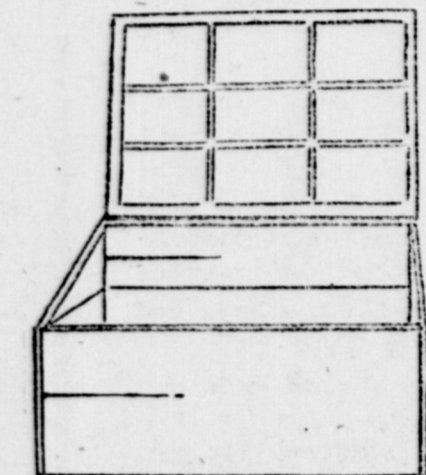

Glass sashes are best for covers. Cloth may be used late in the season. The size of a sash is three by six feet. The bed, then, should be six feet wide and as many times three feet long as desired.

The temperature of the hot bed will be high at first. Use a thermometer. When the heat has fallen to 85 degrees the seed may be planted. Keep the bed well watered, but do not soak. Too much water rots the manure too rapidly. Be sure the bed is well ventilated. When sashes are used, they must be raised to let in the fresh air in mild weather. Extra covers should be provided for cold days and nights.

GLASS SASH FOR HOT BEDS

Latest Invention Is So Arranged as to Allow Air to Circulate and Ventilate Beds.

The newest invention to make winter gardening easy and successful, is a sash for hotbeds or cold frames that have two layers of glass instead of one. Between these layers is a cushion of dry air about five-eighths of an inch thick. The glass on both sides is lapped and adjusted to lie as close as possible, but no putty is used. When the weather is warm enough to melt snow or ice, the air circulates sufficiently to ventilate the bed; but when it is cold enough to freeze every crevice is sealed by the moisture concealed in the cracks. When very cold weather prevails, the air cushion is absolutely dry and in this condition it is a perfect non-conductor of either heat or cold.

Even in zero weather the sun, shining through the glass and enclosed air raises the temperature of the bed to a good growing warmth; and at night only a portion of this warmth escapes. Cabbage, cauliflower, lettuce, beets, violets and pansy plants, it is claimed, are safe under the double glass, at 8 to 10 degrees below zero; and even tomato, pepper and eggplants have been grown in hot beds without any cover except the double glass in a temperature nearly down to zero.

The saving of labor is considerable when the double-glass sash is used. No covering or uncovering is required, no mats or boards are needed. The double sash for hotbeds have been found to be a great saving of heat, less coal is required to keep up a given temperature—the plants make a stronger growth and are less liable to leaf drop.

Indigestion

Stomach trouble is but a symptom of, and not itself a true disease. We think of Dyspepsia, Indigestion, and Indigestion as real diseases, yet they are symptoms only of a certain specific nerve weakness—nothing else.

It was this fact that first correctly led Dr. Shoop to the conclusion that now very popular Stomach Restorative—Dr. Shoop's Restorative, being directed to the stomach nerves, alone brought that success which favor to Dr. Shoop and his Restorative. Without that original and highly vital principle, no such lasting accomplishment were ever to be had. For stomach troubles, indigestion, biliousness, bad breath and sallow complexion, try Dr. Shoop's Restorative—Tablets or Liquid—and see for yourself what it can and will do. We sell and cheerfully recommend.
